Dewey's Bandwagon Rolled Out At Chicago

TOP POLITICAL ADVISERS SEE EARLY CHOICE

Governor Will Accept, Says Sprague—To Have Hand In Platform Making

NEW YORK CLAIMS HIT

Bricker Manager Declares Figures Of Easterner Are "Wholly Fantastic"

CHICAGO, June 20—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey's own drivers brought the Dewey bandwagon, greased and ready to roll, out on the GOP presidential starting line today.

Dewey's top political advisers, J. Russell Sprague and Edwin F. Jaekle, opened "Draft Dewey" headquarters in the Stevens hotel and in a breath erased the last vestige of doubt which might have lingered among Republican convention delegates that the New York governor would accept the 1944 nomination.

Significantly, the forthright statement by Sprague that "in our opinion" the governor will be nominated, accept and be elected came in advance of tomorrow's opening of deliberations on the Republican platform.

The Dewey camp's own representatives on the platform-drafting resolutions committee, Kenneth B. MacAffer and Miss Mary H. Donlon, conferred last night and were ready to enter the platform sessions.

Platform Set
As a result, the platform is expected to follow the 1943 Mackinac declaration, in which Dewey had a prominent hand, and the New York governor's more recent declarations on foreign and domestic policies, very closely.

"There won't be a fight on any phase of the platform," predicted such leaders as Ezra Whitla of Idaho, chairman of the contests committee, and Rep. Carroll Reece, Tennessee, a member of the resolutions committee.

The statement by Sprague, Republican national committeeman from New York, joined in by Jaekle, New York state GOP chairman, made such delegates as Whitla all the more certain, too, that the Dewey nomination will come on the first ballot.

See Bricker Out

Delegates freely but privately predicted that Gov. John W. Bricker of Ohio, who arrives to go before the resolutions committee Thursday, will withdraw in favor of Dewey during the initial roll call.

This would permit Bricker's name to be placed in nomination, with oral tribute to him for his pre-convention national campaign, but enable the convention to place Dewey in the election race with unbroken support.

FIRST PHOTO OF B-29 TAKING OFF TO BOMB JAPAN

TWO AMERICAN GROUND CREWMEN wave "good luck" as a B-29 Superfortress takes off from its airfield base in India to blast Yawata, the steel center of Japan. A large force of these new U. S. air battleships started on their historic flight from this base. Forty-eight hours after the Yank sky giants had raided Japan, the Tokyo radio announced that the Meiji Shrine sports carnival which annually attracts more than 10,000 persons to the Nipponese capital has been cancelled because of the "present situation."

Cabinet Shakeup Looms As Speedy Russ Advance Nears Viipuri

STOCKHOLM, June 20 — The speedy Russian advance to the approaches of Viipuri was expected to hasten initiation of peace moves by a new Finnish government, formation of which was anticipated today, according to dispatches from Helsinki.

Reports from the Finnish capital indicated that a new cabinet list probably will be available in a matter of hours, the shake-up resulting from the conviction in Helsinki that the Russian offensive is much too powerful for Finland and that the Germans could not be counted on for any substantial help.

Even President Risto Ryti was said to have arrived at this conclusion, with the result that the crisis came to a head. Ryti conferred with several Finnish politicians Sunday and Monday in order (Continued on Page Two)

COUPLE MARRIED SECOND TIME TO FORESTALL HUNS

AURORA, Ill., June 20—Ira C. Copley, 79, head of the Copley Press, and his wife, Mrs. Chloe Davidson Copley, explained today that a second marriage ceremony which was performed in Trinity Episcopal church, Aurora, was to forestall complications in the event the Nazis destroyed Paris.

They were married a second time yesterday by the Rev. W. W. Horstick, bishop-elect of the Eau Claire, Wis., diocese of the Episcopal church. W. W. Tracy, 81, of Springfield, Ill., a witness at the first marriage of the Copleys in Paris in 1931, also was a witness at the second wedding.

It was said that if the Nazis should destroy the municipal records in Paris it might result in legal complications involving the property of Mr. and Mrs. Copley, so the second ceremony was performed.

TOKYO ADMITS SAIPAN LOSSES "CONSIDERABLE"

NEW YORK, June 20 — The Japanese high command today admitted "considerable losses in ships and planes" off Saipan island, after conceding earlier that only "some damage" was inflicted by the American invasion forces in the Marianas group.

The Tokyo radio broadcast to Japanese areas told of the "considerable losses," while the previously toned-down transmission was beamed for American consumption.

As heard by the FCC, the earlier broadcast conceded that American forces on Saipan are being reinforced, but added that the Japs were "inflicting heavy damage" on the invaders.

Inquiry Sought Into Reported FDR Pledge To Aid England In War

WASHINGTON, June 20—Senate investigation of British house of commons debate featuring reports that President Roosevelt promised to aid England if she became involved in war was sought today by Sens. Shipstead (R) Minn., and Wheeler (D) Mont.

A bitter senate debate over the issue was touched off when Shipstead read to the senate official reports of the British debate.

"It seems to me that it is incumbent on us to take cognizance because it reflects on the integrity of our own government," said Shipstead.

Sen. Tom Connally (D) Texas, chairman of the foreign relations committee, spurned however, the proposal that his group make an inquiry.

He declared that the purported charges were based upon "it is said" assertions and contained no real evidence. He deplored raising the matter in debate because it might hurt the war effort.

Questions Asked
"I understand it is charged that President Roosevelt assured Mr. Churchill that if England became involved in war the United States would come to her rescue," said Sen. Holman (R) Ore.

"Do I understand this was coincident with the time the President was assuring mothers and fathers that their sons would not be sent to war?"

"It must have been before that time," said Shipstead. "It was while Mr. Churchill was still first lord of the admiralty."

Shipstead explained that Laborite Member John McGovern exploded the issue in the house of (Continued on Page Two)

GERMANS CLAIM CAMP FLIGHT TO JOIN ALLIES

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., June 20—Three recaptured German prisoners of war told a strange story today of escaping from the Indianola, Neb., prisoner of war camp so that they might join the American Army and fight against the Nazis with whom they declared they were not in sympathy.

They said they were on their way to Washington, D. C., to make their plea for enlistment in the U. S. Army when their trip was interrupted by State Highway Patrolman Jack Inman after their arrival in St. Joseph by freight train.

Instead of being permitted to continue on to Washington—if that was their destination—they were placed under Army guard for return to the Indianola camp from which they escaped last Thursday.

Failures of Liberty Ships, the committee said, have increased steadily in number and proportion to the vessels built, with plate fractures occurring in greater proportion in new shipyards with fewer trained workers and less experience.

CHANGES URGED TO STRENGTHEN LIBERTY SHIPS

WASHINGTON, June 20—A house merchant marine subcommittee recommended today a three-point program, including design changes, to curtail steel plate fractures which have beset one out of 10 of all Liberty Ships built.

Culminating a 16-month investigation, the committee reported that almost all shipyards participating in the Liberty Ship program have had some failures and that they still are occurring despite remedial action.

In its report, the house group listed 219 vessels as affected by steel plate fractures out of 2,570 ships of all types built up to last March 1. Five ships were lost along with 11 lives.

The committee recommended:

1. Improvement of welding procedures and practices, including better training of welders and more adequate supervision and inspection of welding operations.
2. Higher quality steel for welding purposes. Few changes were made in the steel used for ship plate since the transition from a riveted to a welded method of construction, the committee found.
3. Design changes to limit the susceptibility of welded vessels to fracture and to curb the extent of their failures should plate fractures occur.

Failures of Liberty Ships, the committee said, have increased steadily in number and proportion to the vessels built, with plate fractures occurring in greater proportion in new shipyards with fewer trained workers and less experience.

NAVY ABANDONS NORMANDIE AS TROOP CARRIER

NEW YORK, June 20—Plans to re-build the fire-wrecked liner Normandie have been abandoned by the Navy, it was disclosed today. Shortages of critical materials and manpower, the Navy said, forced the Navy to cancel its plans to make the huge liner into a troopship. The Normandie burned and capsized at a Hudson river pier in February, 1942, and was raised at a cost of $3,750,000, but no further repairs were made on her.

O'DANIEL BLASTS NEW DEALERS

Fourth Termers Accused Of Borrowing Platform Of Communists

CHICAGO, June 20—Fourth term opponents today discussed means of defeating the New Deal next November following the charge of Sen. W. Lee O'Daniel (D) of Texas that New Deal Democrats have borrowed the Communist party platform and thrown constitutional government overboard.

O'Daniel spoke before Democrats from 20 states at a meeting sponsored by the American Democratic National Committee, organized to block a fourth term for President Roosevelt. His address was one of several, all assailing New Deal "domination." He said:

"The young manhood of America is not fighting the war for a new form of government, but to maintain the kind of government under which the United States has grown to be the greatest nation in the world."

"The issue will be decided at the polls this year. There the people will decide whether we are to maintain constitutional government in America. They will decide whether we are to have a government by law, or junk the Constitution and hereafter have government by executive order and bureaucratic edict."

Sen. O'Daniel declared that dis (Continued on Page Two)

ALLIED BOMBERS DO GREAT JOB OF DESTRUCTION

WASHINGTON, June 20—The war department revealed today that the Mediterranean Allied air force tactical operations against the Nazis in Italy preparatory to the fall of Rome reduced enemy supplies from 43,800 tons a day to a mere trickle of 3,000.

Systematic assaults on all German supply routes and means of transportation resulted in a toll of 156 railroads and roads cut or blocked; 95 bridges destroyed and 198 damaged; 773 trucks cut; 21 locomotives destroyed and 21 damaged.

In addition, 391 railroad cars were demolished and 694 damaged; 10 tunnels bottled up and 28 partially blocked; 44 supply dumps destroyed; 21 ships and small boats sunk and 44 damaged; 2,768 armored vehicles and trucks demolished and 2,427 damaged.

To accomplish the objective of cutting the Nazi lifeline in Italy, the tactical air force lost 98 planes shot down and 44 missing, the department related. During May, they flew 39,187 sorties and 5,153 missions, dropped 20,580 tons of bombs, and destroyed 81 enemy planes in combat and 19 on the ground. There were also 13 probables and 60 damaged in the air and on the ground.

GERMAN TARGETS HIT

Fortresses And Liberators Accompanied By Strong Fighter Forces

LONDON, June 20—More than 1,500 American heavy bombers, a record force, today attacked pilotless plane launching points in the Pas De Calais area of France and oil tanks and aircraft factory targets in Germany.

Both Fortress and Liberator bombers took part in the assaults to blast the points from which the Nazis have been sending robot bombs against England and to cripple critical war industries in the Reich.

A dispatch from Stockholm said 16 American Liberator bombers had made forced landings near Malmoe, southern Sweden, after daylight attacks on Germany today.

"A number of oil refineries and synthetic oil plants, a tank ordnance depot and an aircraft wing repair and components factory in Germany, and pilotless plane launching platforms in the Pas De Calais area were attacked today by more than 1,500 Fortresses and Liberators of the Eighth Air Force," an official communique said.

CONFEREES NEAR AGREEMENT ON PRICE CONTROL

WASHINGTON, June 20—Senate-house conferees early today reached an agreement on the price control extension bill with the exception of the Bankhead cotton "escalator" amendment assailed by the OPA as inflationary.

The bill, as agreed on, calls for a one year extension of price control from July 1, with liberalizing amendments.

Sen. Wagner (D) N. Y., chairman of the joint conference appointed to iron out differences between senate and house, was pleased with the outcome.

"Except for the unsettled Bankhead amendment, there is nothing inflationary in the bill as agreed upon," he said. "I hope the President will sign it."

The conferees agreed to make one more effort before the senate meets to dispose of the Bankhead amendment. Failing, senate conferees will ask for a new vote on the provision.

The Bankhead amendment, which requires OPA to revise cotton textile ceilings upward if necessary to enable mills to pay parity prices for raw cotton, passed the senate on the first test by only a 39 to 35 vote.

The house conferees, apparently impressed by the declaration of OPA Administrator Chester Bowles that the Bankhead amendment would force a 250 million dollar annual increase in the nation's clothing bill, refused to accept it.

HAUPT PRESSES PLEA FOR NEW TREASON TRIAL

CHICAGO, June 20 — Defense attorneys pressed their efforts today to obtain a new trial for Hans Max Haupt, recently convicted a second time on a charge of treason for aiding his saboteur son, Herbert Haupt.

Notice of appeal from the life sentence and $10,000 fine in federal district court, charges that the jury's verdict was the result of "passion, prejudice and war hysteria." On his first trial Haupt was sentenced to death.

HITLER FACING ROBOT BACKFIRE

Germans Await Surrender Of Allies Under Nazis' Greatest Hoax

SOMEWHERE IN ENGLAND, June 20—Adolf Hitler is facing a grave dilemma in the wake of the Robot Bombs today as 60,000,000 Germans breathlessly await a promised Allied "capitulation" under the Nazis' greatest hoax.

All reports from the Reich indicate that propaganda Minister Paul Joseph Goebbels has dangerously overreached himself in his fantastic propaganda. Intentionally or not, he has created a synthetic miracle in the minds of the German public.

The bubble is bound to break. From the Allied standpoint there is every prospect this mass delusion in the long run will act as a boomerang upon the German people.

Long years spent as a correspondent inside Germany has led to one inescapable conclusion—German mentality swings from one extreme to another. The average German is easily victimized and emotionally unstable, a fact which the crafty Goebbels has exploited to the utmost.

In the present case, Goebbels has done everything in his power to divert Teuton minds from the grave military outlook in the wake of invasion and continuous air bombings of Germany. The jittery Nazi public was only too eager to swallow any fantasy pointing to an early end of the war.

42 DEGREE DROP FOLLOWS JUNE HEAT RECORD

June 18—Mercury soars to 97 and hottest June weather of local history is recorded.

June 20—Mercury drops to 55, and topcoats appear on city streets for the first time since early Spring.

The heat wave was broken with a vengeance Monday night when a 42 degree drop in temperature rode into the vicinity on a strong wind. Monday saw some lessening of heat when the highest temperature point was 87 degrees. The real drop in temperature started in the early evening.

Thousands of persons in the district who were unable to sleep because of the heat Saturday and Sunday nights went to the woolen closets for heavy bed covers Monday night.

The "cold" weather brought no complaints.

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, A. E. F., June 20—American forces are reported to be "in touch" with Cherbourg's outer defense, a spokesman said today. These U. While two British patrols swung north of St. Lo, the town of Montebourg was captured and Allied troops scored a two-mile advance west of Valogne to surround the town on three sides.

The town of Hostot has been captured as well. Some American forces on the east coast are within one and one-half miles of Quineville.

North of Bricqueback American troops scored an advance of five and one-half miles. The headquarters spokesman said that United States Navy and Coast Guard casualties since D-day have been almost unbelievably light.

The heavyweight bombers were escorted by strong forces of Lightnings, Thunderbolts and Mustangs.

The oil targets were located in the Hamburg, Hannover, Magdeburg and Politz areas. The ordnance tank depot was situated at Konigsborn, near Magdeburg. The aerial factory was in the Brunswick area.

The 1,500 heavyweights comprised the largest force of United States bombers ever dispatched from the European theatre of operations.

The previous record number sent out was between 1,300 and 1,400.

It was understood that a considerable percentage was devoted to the attack on Pas De Calais from where the Nazis continued to send out pilotless craft during the night and early today.

The big four-motored American planes were escorted by upwards of 750 fighters, making the total forces about 2,250 planes.

commons, and that censorship permitted a report on the debate to come to the United States.

In the commons debate, McGovern asked whether Capt. A. H. Ramsay, member of parliament, was being held in custody because he might make sensational disclosure regarding pre-war promises.

McGovern linked Capt. Ramsay's imprisonment with that of Tyler Kent, employee of the American embassy, who was convicted under English law and sent to English prison for allegedly conspiring to make public documents he was charged with taking from the American diplomatic pouches.

McGovern was quoted as asserting that while Churchill was first lord of the admiralty he was using the American code to exchange letters with Mr. Roosevelt through use of American diplomatic pouches.

Wheeler said that he understood it to be a violation of law for a foreigner to use the American code.

"Is there any information as to how Mr. Churchill got use of the code?" asked Sen. Bushfield (R) S. D.

"No," replied Wheeler.

Sen. Connally said that while Kent was charged with taking letters from the American embassy, he was tried on charges of conspiring with others to violate the British defense of the realm law.

He declared that McGovern's speech was punctuated with remarks such as "it is said" and "I have been told," without giving any real facts to back up the purported charges involving Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Churchill.

"We can't accept such statements as facts," he said. "I do not know whether Mr. Churchill invoked American aid or not. But everyone knows Mr. Roosevelt could not send one dollar of supplies until there was an act of this chamber."

"I disagree," interjected Wheeler. "The destroyer deal was not approved here."

Connally appealed to members to "end this political sniping during a great war," and prevent disunity.

to form a new government in which representatives of the so-called "peace opposition" would have a place.

Political circles in the Finnish capital are convinced that neither Premier Edvin Linkomies nor Minister of Finance Vaino Tanner will be members of the new cabinet. Tanner is believed to be influenced to a high degree by Marshal Baron Carl Mannerheim, and the Russians are understood to be absolutely unwilling to negotiate with Linkomies.

"One of Finland's most prominent personalities," according to usually reliable Finnish sources, will head the new cabinet. There was considerable diversity of opinion as to whom this new premier would be.

Some circles predicted Dr. Juho Paasilivi, who led the peace talks with Russia in 1940 and who participated in recent negotiations, would head the cabinet. Other quarters said that if Paasilivi were not called on to form the government, he would not take a minister's post but would remain as Finland's foremost negotiator with the Soviet Union.

Mannerheim was not expected to be formal leader of the new government, although the premiership was thought to hinge on his decision.

early today, however, denouncing what he termed "fantastic claims" of delegate strength for Dewey. He particularly referred to a published statement claiming a first ballot vote of 805 for Dewey.

Moore, citing contrasting figures on Bricker's strength in states claimed for Dewey, said these demonstrate that "the claims made in behalf of Mr. Dewey are not only suspect, but wholly fantastic."

"It is a known fact," he continued, "that there are fewer instructed or unpledged delegates heading for the Chicago convention than in any Republican convention in many years. There are 825 positively unpledged and uninstructed delegates. That means that 825 men and women are coming here with open minds to consider carefully the qualifications of every man who may be placed in nomination."

Gov. Dewey is expected to come to Chicago by train to accept the nomination. Sprague said:

"We're here . . . to draft Governor Dewey, nominate him, and in our opinion when nominated, Gov. Dewey will, the same as any true American would, come to the convention, accept the nomination and in November be elected to the presidency."

Although Sprague and Jaecle are known to have conferred with Dewey before leaving for Chicago, Sprague said in reply to a direct question that the governor "hasn't been consulted on this statement."

Sprague emphasized he was speaking for Republicans of New York state and the Republican organization of that state. Ninety-two of New York's 93 delegates are "unanimous for the draft of Governor Dewey," he pointed out.

On the matter of conveying Dewey's platform views to the resolutions committee, Macaffer said that while he has not talked with the governor recently, he was "well aware" of his position on all issues from statements of record.

Platform interest also was highlighted in a meeting today of the so-called Northwest conference, representing Republicans of the Western states. Both Whitley and Ruth Hanna McCormick Simms, co-manager of Dewey's pre-convention campaign in 1940 and now a resolutions committee member from New Mexico, declared the West was overwhelmingly for Dewey. Delegates from these states, however, are directly interested in protecting their irrigation, industrial reversion and other regional interests in the platform.

THE CHERBOURG VICTORY
THE old puzzle of what will happen when an irresistible force meets an immovable body is being solved on the Cherbourg peninsula.

The Nazis were sure that Rommel's fortifications would hold. The work had been done well, in the years before the careless Allies rearmend. Apparently never in human warfare had a defensive job been done so strongly and ingeniously. The Germans had the most modern skills and materials for building such a stronghold, and made the best use of them, in a strategic place where the Allies would naturally try to break through. Every possible advantage of terrain had been taken, every trick of mines and fortifications and materials which German ingenuity could devise had been prepared during the years when the Allies were idle.

Everything was far stronger than the usual construction. Concrete and steel emplacement were six feet thick. Lines of defense were multiplied and ran everywhere, in all directions. There were countless traps. Pill boxes and anti-tank guns were cleverly masked. There was provision for "wave on wave of massed fire power." The slow and dull Allies would never get through it!

But they ARE getting through it. In doing so, they are demonstrating again the old principle which holds that every defense is vulnerable, and there is no military obstacle or difficulty which determined and resourceful men cannot overcome.

THE NEW PROTECTION
OLD terms get new meanings. The headline reads, "Willkie Calls for Protection as Free Enterprise Ingredient." A few years ago "protection", in this utterance of a former Republican presidential candidate, would have meant only one thing: a high tariff, probably a higher one.

Now few think of increased customs duties as the solution for any problem. "Protection" means to most, as it did to Willkie, the protection of the worker against the hazards of unemployment.

If McCumber and Fordney, Smoot and Hawley, authors of the last two tariff bills, returned to life today, they would learn that the world now has a broader outlook. Countries are concerned less with the financial profit of certain manufacturing industries than with the welfare of the whole economic system. Security for all is becoming the goal.

The new definition of "protection" not only covers more ground, but is more statesmanlike.

Allies Hope to Neutralize Philippine Air Fields May Jap Effort to Split China

Special to Central Press

WASHINGTON—Allied forces in the Pacific and Far East now are racing against time to get into a position that would neutralize Japan's latest drives to split fighting China and force a collapse of that gallant Asiatic power.

The monsoon season is on in Burma and it will prevent any major action in that area by either the Allies or the Japs.

However, American forces from the Central and Southwest Pacific, supported by the Allies, may launch an invasion drive that will bring on another headache for the Jap high command.

Admiral Chester W. Nimitz and Gen. Douglas MacArthur and their forces are heading toward the Philippines and China. Such a move westward may be speeded up because of the Jap threat to China.

Once American forces are established at any point in the commonwealth, the Japs in China will have plenty to think about.

First objective, of course, will be establishment of airfields in the Philippines, and airmen from there will join with air forces in Asia to plaster Japanese communication lines at sea and on land.

SENATORS INTERESTED IN REDUCING the cabaret tax pulled a fast one by tacking a rider on the debt limit bill slashing the levy from 30 to 20 per cent.

If the tax reduction had been carried alone in a separate bill, or appended to a less urgent measure, it might have run afoul of a presidential veto, since the treasury is on record as opposing any reduction in the 30 per cent levy.

But carried as a rider to the debt limit bill, there is much less

The WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

By DREW PEARSON

INVASION PLANS
WASHINGTON—Now that the invasion is under way, some inside light can be thrown on General Marshall's alleged labor-baiting press conference which reverberated all over the country last December. Whether or not you agreed with Gen. Marshall at the time, there was no question that his statement was bitterly resented by labor. Labor chiefs protested at the White House.

However, what could not be explained at the time was this. The Chief of Staff had just returned to Washington from the Teheran Conference, at which it is now known that vitally important decisions were made for a second front. Those decisions meant that, beginning a few days after Christmas, the Army would begin the movement of several hundred thousand men (the number must still remain secret) to the seaboard for shipment to England. The movement of those troops would put a terrific burden on the railroads.

General Marshall was one of the few men who knew about this. Coming back to Washington, he found the country on the verge of a railroad strike which might tie up its entire transportation system around January 1, just as the big movement of troops was scheduled to start.

That was why he felt so wrought up, and why he delivered his press-conference blast accusing labor of delaying the war.

JUDGE VINSON HOLLERS

A labor delegation was calling on Senator "Happy" Chandler of Kentucky recently when Happy picked up the telephone to answer a call from Economic Stabilizer Fred Vinson, also from Kentucky.

Vinson was asking Senator Chandler to vote with the Administration against the Bankhead amendment to the price control bill, explaining that the amendment in his opinion seriously mutilated price control.

"When I was appointed to this job," said Judge Vinson, "you came around and you patted me on the back and you shook hands and you told me, 'Now, if you ever want anything from me, just you holler.'"

However, the Senator from Kentucky turned a deaf ear, indicated that he would vote against Vinson and for the Bankhead amendment.

"All right," said Judge Vinson, as he hung up, "but I just want you to know that I hollered."

PENSIONS FOR EXECUTIVES

Senator Bob Taft of Ohio isn't advertising it yet, but close friends say he is fed up on the gilt-edge pension racket of certain of his big business friends.

The pension dodge is a plan whereby big corporation executives don't take all of their salary now, but have part of it set aside as a pension fund, payable when they retire. This means that their companies can deduct the pension fund from the companies' taxes now, and the executive doesn't have to pay any taxes on the pension until some years hence when he receives it at which time taxes (we hope) will be lower.

In some cases, pensions have been set aside running up to future payments of $50,000 a year. Since most manufacturers are busy on war contracts, this means that

DIET AND HEALTH

Physical Causes For Dyspepsia

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M.D.
WE TRIED yesterday to establish the argument that the symptoms of chronic indigestion, or dyspepsia—such as sense of fullness, heart burn, lack of appetite

Dr. Clendening will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

and gas are not usually caused by organic disease of the stomach, but are reflexes due to irritation from a point of stimulus far removed from the stomach.

Most of these foci of irritation we argued lie in the individual's habit of life, the lack of adjustment to the ordinary affairs and routine of existence. And for them the best treatment is psychological. If the dyspeptic can be persuaded to take a saner view of his life, his stomach will act in a more normal manner.

There are, however, other causes that are more tangible and physical which we can lump under bad habits and the rest of the treatment of dyspepsia consists in an attempt to control these and reduce their irritations to a minimum. Those we will discuss today.

Food Habits
High on this list come food habits. Many an unhappy person endowed with the gossamer digestive apparatus of a mayfly is tolling through life imposing on his organisms alimentary feasts worthy of a mastodon. Huddled meals, irregular meals, big meals, three meals a day, indigestible foods all go to make up the picture.

A diet may be defective in a number of ways: in respect of bulk, of temperature, of fluid content, of excess of irritating substances. A stomach is notoriously tolerant towards temporary indulgences and indiscretions, but their persistence may lead to dyspepsia. It is a common experience to find patients suffering from dyspepsia who have put themselves on a regime which consists mainly of fluids and soft foods which is inadequate in bulk as well as in nutritional balance. There are few diseases of the stomach, aside from ulcer, that necessitate such a diet for more than a few days.

Efficient mastication seems to be a lost art and is no longer pursued with enthusiasm. But the slightest pause for thought would convince many dyspeptics that mastication is the first step in digestion rendering the food soft and more amenable to the digestive juices of the stomach, intestine, and pancreas. Many a case of chronic dyspepsia can be dated from the time when all the teeth were pulled and when the subject had to wait weeks for satisfactory dentures.

Adequate Biting Surface
There is no general agreement as to what constitutes an adequate biting surface, but a useful guide may be obtained by giving a point for each pair of teeth which meet in apposition and two points for a pair of molars meeting at all four cusps. In a normal mouth the total number of possible points is twenty-two and the minimum number for satisfactory mastication is eight, and this must include a pair of molars.

Tobacco and alcohol are bound to be accused by friends and family of the dyspeptic. Physiology, I am reluctantly bound to admit, is on the side of the friends and family. The term gastritis is used quite freely by those who like a definite word or term for their dyspepsia. So far as I have been able to find in a long experience there is no such thing as gastritis, except alcoholic gastritis.

If the continuous use of alcohol on an empty stomach will produce inflammation why will not the occasional use aggravate the symptoms of discomfort in the stomach which in a dyspeptic are always ready to the surface. Tobacco stimulates the vagus nerve and stimulation of the vagus nerve causes extra secretion of hydrochloric acid in the stomach.

"CALAMITY TOWN" by ELLERY QUEEN

©1943 LITTLE, BROWN & CO., DISTRIBUTED BY KING FEATURES SYNDICATE

CHAPTER TWENTY-EIGHT
In that long dreary body of testimony calculated to prove Jim Haight's sole Opportunity, the only colorful spots were provided by Judge Eli Martin in cross-examination.

From the first the old lawyer's plan was plain to Ellery: to cast doubt . . . insinuate, imply . . . "But you can't be sure!"

"N-no."

"You didn't have the defendant under observation every moment?"

"Of course not!"

"The defendant might have laid the tray of cocktails down for a moment or so?"

"No."

"Are you positive?"

Prosecutor Bradford quietly objects: the question was answered. Sustained. Judge Newbold waves his hand patiently.

"Did you see the defendant prepare the cocktails?"

"No."

"Were you in the living room all the time?"

"You know I was!" This was Frank Lloyd; and he was angry. To Lloyd, Judge Martin paid special attention. The old gentleman wormed out of the witness his relationship with the Wright family—that he had been in love with the accused's wife, that he had been bitter when she turned him down for James Haight, that he had threatened the latter with bodily violence . . . Objection, objection, objection . . . But the old love situation managed to come out, enough of it to reawaken in the jury's minds the whole story of Frank Lloyd and Nora Wright.

All of which helped to create a doubt. The vengeful jilted "other" man. Who knows? Maybe—

With the Wright family, who took the stand to testify to the actual events of the night, Judge Martin was impersonal—and cast more doubts. Nobody actually saw Jim Haight drop arsenic into the cocktail. Nobody could be sure . . .

But the prosecutor's case proceeded and, despite Judge Martin's wily obstructions, Bradford established: that Jim alone mixed the cocktails; that Jim was the only one who could have been certain the poisoned cocktail went to Nora, his intended victim, since he handed each drinker his or her cocktail; that Jim pressed Nora to drink when she was reluctant.

And there was the testimony of old Wentworth, who had been the attorney for John F.'s father and had drawn the latter's will. Wentworth testified that on Nora's marriage she received her grandfather's bequest of a hundred thousand dollars, held in trust for her until that "happy" event.

And the testimony of the five handwriting experts, who agreed unanimously that the three unmailed letters addressed to Rosemary Haight—dated Thanksgiving, Christmas, and New Year's—were in the accused's handwriting.

Then came Alberta Manassas. It was through this servant that Carter Bradford brought out how, as the first letter had predicted, Nora took sick on Thanksgiving Day; how Nora had another, and worse, attack of "sickness" on Christmas Day. Alberta went into detail about these "sicknesses."

Dr. Milo Willoughby's testimony, confirmed by the testimony of Coroner Salemon and the testimony of L. D. ("Whitey") Magill, State Chemist, established that the toxic agent which had made Nora Haight ill, and caused the death of Rosemary Haight, was commonly known as white arsenic.

Then Prosecutor Bradford calls to the stand Myron Garback, proprietor of the High Village Pharmacy. Wrightsville. He testifies that "sometime during the previous October," James Haight had entered the pharmacy and asked for "a small tin of Quikco."

Q.—What exactly is Quikco?
A.—It is a preparation used for killing rodents and insect pests.

Q.—What is the lethal ingredient of Quikco?
A.—Arsenic trioxide.

Q.—In highly concentrated form?
A.—Yes, sir.

Q.—Did you sell the defendant a tin of this poisonous preparation?
A.—Yes, sir. It is a commercial preparation, requiring no prescription.

Q.—Did the defendant ever return to purchase more Quikco?
A.—Yes, sir, about two weeks later. He said he'd mislaid the can of stuff, so he'd have to buy a new can. I sold him a new can.

Q.—What did the defendant say to you, and what did you say to the defendant, on the occasion of his first purchase?
A.—Mr. Haight said there were mice in his house. I said I was surprised, because I'd never heard of house mice up on the Hill. He didn't say anything to that.

Cross-examination by Judge Eli Martin:—

Q.—Mr. Garback, how many tins of Quikco would you estimate you sold during the month of October last?
A.—That's hard to answer. A lot.

Q.—Twenty-five? Fifty?
A.—Somewhere around there.

Q.—Then it's not unusual for customers to buy this poisonous preparation?
A.—No, sir, not unusual at all.

Q.—Then how is it you remembered that Mr. Haight purchased some—remembered it for five months?
A.—It just stuck in my mind. Maybe because he bought two tins so closely together.

Q.—You're positive it was two cans, two weeks apart?
A.—Yes, sir.

Q.—Mr. Garback, do you keep records of your Quikco sales, listed by customer?
A.—I don't have to, Judge. It's legal to sell—

Q.—Answer the question, Mr. Garback: Have you a written record of James Haight's alleged purchases of Quikco?
A.—No, sir, but—

Q.—Then we just have your word, relying on your memory of two incidents you allege to have occurred five months ago, that the defendant purchased Quikco from you?
Prosecutor Bradford: Your Honor, the witness is under oath. He has answered Counsel's question not once, but several times. Objection.

Judge Newbold: Sustained. It seems to me witness has answered.

Eli Martin: That's all, thank you, Mr. Garback.

Alberta Manassas is recalled to the stand. Questioned by Mr. Bradford, she testifies that she "never seen no rats or mice in Miss Nora's house." She further testifies that she "never seen no rat-killer, neither."

On cross-examination, Judge Martin asks Alberta if it is not true that in the tool chest in the cellar of the Haight house there is a large rat trap.

A.—Is there?
Q.—That's what I'm asking you, Alberta.

A.—I guess there is, at that.

Q.—If there are no rats, Alberta, why do you suppose the Haight kept a rat trap?
Prosecutor Bradford: Objection. Calling for opinion.

Judge Newbold: Sustained. Counsel, I'll have to ask you to restrict your cross-examination to—

Judge Martin (humbly): Yes, Your Honor.

Emmeline DuPre testifies that she is a dramatic and dancing teacher residing "right next door to Nora Wright's house." During the previous November and December she "happened to overhear" frequent quarrels between Nora and James Haight. The quarrels were about Mr. Haight's heavy drinking and numerous demands for money. There was one markedly violent quarrel, in December, when Miss DuPre heard Nora Haight refuse to give her husband "any more money." Did Miss DuPre "happen to overhear" anything to indicate why the defendant needed so much money?

A.—That's what shocked me so, Mr. Bradford—

Q.—The Court is not interested in your emotional reactions, Miss DuPre. Answer the question, please.

A.—Jim Haight admitted he'd been gambling, and losing plenty, and that's why he needed money.

Q.—Was any name or place mentioned by either Mr. or Mrs. Haight in connection with the defendant's gambling?
A.—Jim Haight said he'd been losing a lot at the Hot Spot on Route 16—

On cross-examination, Judge Martin reduces Miss DuPre to indignant tears. He brings out that she crouched by her bedroom window in darkness listening to the voices floating warmly across the driveway between her house and the Haight's—confuses her in the matter of dates and times involved, so that she clearly contradicts herself several times.

The spectators enjoy themselves.

Then J. P. Simpson, proprietor of Simpson's Pawnshop, testifies that in November and December last James Haight pledged various items of jewelry at Simpson's Pawnshop.

Q.—What kind of jewelry?
A.—First one was a man's gold watch—he took it off his chain to pawn it.

Q.—Is this the watch?
A.—Yes, sir.

Q.—Will you read the inscription on the watch, Mr. Simpson?
A.—"To Jim—from Nora."

Q.—What else did the defendant pawn?
A.—Gold and platinum rings, a cameo brooch, and so on.

Q.—Do you recognize these items of jewelry I now show you, Mr. Simpson?
A.—Yes, sir. They're the ones he pawned with me.

Q.—These last items are all women's jewelry, are they not?
A.—That's right.

Q.—Read the various inscriptions.

A.—"N.W."—"N.W."—"N.W.H."—"N.W."

Nora's jewelry is placed in evidence.

Q.—One last question, Mr. Simpson. Did the defendant ever redeem any of the objects he pawned with you?
A.—No, sir.

Judge Martin waives cross-examination.

JUDGING by the lunar transits reigning on this day there may be disconcerting and difficult circumstances, which may be converted to available and profitable resources, by a system of progressive tactics, ingenuity, perseverance and possibly with the support and sympathetic insight of those near and dear. There may be tricky or scheming factors to combat with determination and courage, in which much depends upon an optimistic vision as well as a dependable state of health and emotions. Work for such security.

If It Is Your Birthday
Those whose birthday it is may be prepared for a year in which there may be a variety of difficulties and setbacks to contend with. There may be obstacles, limitations and depressions, these largely from depleted health or erratic emotional conditions. In this seek the support of friends, home ties or other responsive sources rather than business or other cooperation. Adhere to the line of duty and obligation, be wary of suspicious characters, maintain persistent and shrewd efforts, and there may be fair progress, but use some ingenuity.

A child born on this day may have fair abilities, be fairly ambitious, probably artistic, although with erratic or peculiar bent, making it easily victimized.

BUCKY SLATED TO TAKE MOUND AGAINST PIRATES

PITTSBURGH, June 20—Veteran Bucky Walters is scheduled to take the mound today as the Cincinnati Reds meet the Pittsburgh Pirates in the Smoky City. The Reds will be fighting to regain third place from the New York Giants, who at present are a full game ahead.

Max Butcher will be on the mound to protect the Pirate's second place standing in the National league. A victory for the Reds would boost them to just a half-game behind the Pirates.

Both the Reds and Pirates were idle yesterday.

SPY RADIOS SEIZED

NEW YORK—The Radio Intelligence Division of The Federal Communications Commission has thwarted virtually all of the attempts of Nazi spies in this country to send wireless messages overseas, according to FCC Chairman James C. Fly. The RID, by using delicate devices and an around-the-clock watch on the airwaves, has been able to ferret out even the smallest of these transmitters, he said. Some were hidden in hotel rooms, garages and automobiles.

BIRDIES BLAST MILLER HURLERS FOR 14-4 WIN

By International News Service

The Columbus Red Birds found their bats loaded with dynamite and blasted three Minneapolis hurlers for 15 hits to chalk up a 14 to 4 triumph, thereby cutting Milwaukee's league lead today to five games. The Brewers lost to Louisville, 8 to 6.

The victory enabled the Red Birds to divide the four-game series with the Millers as Stan Partenheimer scored his sixth win of the season and his first as a Red Bird. Partenheimer was hit freely, however, allowing the Millers 13 safeties.

The Red Birds jumped to an early lead in the first frame with Joe Mack collecting a home run off Claude Horton. Before the smoke of battle had evaporated, the Birds had four runs to their credit.

From then on it was a run away, with Mack collecting three hits, Joe Wyrostek continued his fine batting, hitting safely in his seventeenth consecutive contest, chalked up three blazes, John An-tonelli and Tommy Heath also collected three hits apiece.

Losing pitcher was Claude Horton.

Milwaukee outthit the Colonels, 14 to 11, but a six-run scoring spree in the fifth inning gave Louisville the margin needed to score the 8 to 6 triumph. The win gave the Colonels an even break in the four-game series.

Brewer third baseman Bill Nagel collected his thirteenth homer with one on in the second to tie the Colonels' Nick Polly for the Association lead in home runs.

Julio Acosta was tabbed with the defeat while Lucier was the winning hurler.

Art Herring, veteran St. Paul hurler, allowed four hits in recording a 6 to 0 triumph over the Toledo Mud Hens. The defeat snapped the Mud Hens six-game winning streak.

Kansas City pushed across three tallies in the twelfth inning to score a 6 to 4 triumph over Indianapolis.

Big Bill Tilden Pops Back On Sport Pages; In Red Cross Benefit

By Lawton Carver

NEW YORK, June 20—Like a man given up for lost, the name of Big Bill Tilden has popped back into the eastern sport pages. The heading on the stories is in type that you have to look for at great length. It doesn't glaze out at you across the top of the page. You'll find it buried down among the dandruff cures, saying simply that Tilden is going to compete in the Red Cross benefit tennis exhibitions at Forest Hills, beginning July 2.

For some of us it will be worth the trip all the way out on Long Island to watch him sweat a few again, not that I was ever a tennis fan or ever saw much of Tilden. But I saw enough of both the sport and of the man himself to know, even though he already was faded then, that he must have been by far the finest machine that ever travelled a tennis court.

He's in his mid-forties now, an age when paunchy old gents strip themselves down to shorts and puff and huff through a couple of sets of pat-ball, but unless he has slipped, tremendously in three or four years he still will be able to muster an occasional flash of what in another field would be known as genius. Along with it he has the color that made him the biggest thing in international sports on more than one occasion in his reign as the greatest in the world.

He won the U. S. amateur title seven times and teamed up to take the doubles as well five times, besides playing the leading role in Davis cup competition for years. He first hit the big headlines as a winner in 1915 when he and Vincent Richards won the doubles. He won the singles first in 1920 after two years as runner-up.

The lanky, long-armed Philadelphia with the stooped shoulders and the hatchet-face turned pro in 1931, hit the world's great tennis spots for the next few years then began to slip. Yet, only about four years ago he played superbly against Don Budge for a set before he wilted and succumbed to the hard-hitting of the younger man, who, incidentally, some say was just about as good as Tilden.

And, of course, there was no comparison between the two in that thing called color. Budge was a tremendous man in every respect other than waving that racket at you, but in appearance and personality was just another tennis player.

Tilden had fire and antics and mannerisms all his own, plus an unforgettable physical getup, and if you saw him once you'd never forget him any more than you would forget paunchy Babe Ruth on his little feet or Jack Dempsey with that awful snarl across his unshaved face.

And they all were of the same breed and era—the Ruths and Dempseys and others of the 1920's—great men who won occasionally go through the motions to help a cause and let the latter day fans get a glimpse of what is left. That alone will make it worth while to watch Tilden.

BABE DIDRIKSON PACES FIELD IN WESTERN OPEN

CHICAGO, June 20—Babe Didrikson Zaharias, one of the most famous athletes of her sex, paced the field into the first round of match play today in the Women's Western Open golf championship at the Park Ridge country club.

She stroked the medal score of 38-39—77, two over par, against high, chill winds in yesterday's qualifying round and today met Margaret Russell of Detroit, who reached the title bracket with a score of 87.

Lt. Patty Berg of Minneapolis, defending champion and twice winner of the open event, put together a 41 and 40 for her 81 total. She had Sally Sessions of Muskegon, Mich., as her opponent over today's 18 holes. Miss Sessions had an 87 qualifying score.

Dorothy Germain of Philadelphia, present western amateur champion and second low qualifier with a 79, headed the lower half of the championship bracket and matched strokes with Mrs. Thomas B. Nolan of New Castle, Pa., who had an 87.

One of the stars in the upper half was Dorothy Kirby of Atlanta (84), who last year gave Patty Berg one of the battles of her career in the 36-hole final at Glen Oak, Chicago. She was paired with Margaret Muench of Chicago (89).

GIANTS POUNCE ON M'LISH FOR 10-2 VICTORY

New York Hammering At Door To Second Place As Pirates Totter

NEW YORK, June 20—The New York Giants, who were bogged down in seventh place in the National league only three weeks ago, today are hammering demandingly on the door to second place. Only 15 percentage points behind the fading Pittsburgh Pirates, the Giants now are literally careening up the league standings, and have made the greatest comeback either league has seen in 1944. Between the threat of the cellar and the plunge upward into the first division, there lies a saga of heroic manhood.

Mel Ott rightly should regard the Giants as a cross to be borne rather than a major league ball club, but somehow he doesn't. Last year, his club wound up in last place and he himself wound up with stomach ulcers, worrying himself sick over the ragged-looking band of misfits. This year, after getting off to a good start, the Giants began another journey to the cellar which stopped on the threshold only because the Chicago Cubs were (and are) so inept they could not budge from eighth place.

It is, perhaps, Ott's own herculean efforts which shouldered the Giants upward from the second division. The die-hard veteran of 20 years of major league play personally put his shoulder to the wheel with 18 homers, a league-leading total at present, and actually more circuit clouts than he lifted into the stands all last season. Ott has given his men something to shoot at, and that they are shooting straight is seen in the fact that they have won 17 of their last 22 starts.

The 17th victory came last night when the Giants pounced on Hal Gregg and Calvin Coolidge McIlh for a 10 to 2 triumph over the Brooklyn Dodgers.

The win was the Giants' fourth straight and the seventh over the Dodgers. Despite hard rain, 25,140 paid to see the arch-rival clash in the arc contest. The Giants beat out 11 hits, although they were helped somewhat by errors by Bobby Bragan and Dixie Walker in the second as six runs were piled up by the Giants in this frame alone.

Victim of the loss was Hal Gregg, who gave up seven runs before he was relieved in the third by Calvin Coolidge McIlh. The Indian youth retired 11 Giants in a row before the New Yorkers reached him for a pair of runs in the seventh and their final marker in the eighth.

The Dodger-Giant game was the sole contest of the day, the Senators-Yankees game being called off because of rain in the afternoon.

C. C. OF A. LOSES INITIAL CONTEST BY 18 TO 3 COUNT

Container Corporation, playing their first game in City League competition, were swamped 18 to 3 by Blue Ribbon Dairy Monday evening at Ted Lewis Park. Poor support by his teammates and the big bats of the Blue Ribbon boys, proved the downfall of Leonard Buskirk, Container pitcher. The Dairy boys touched him for 16 bingles and his team committed five errors. Junior Anderson, Blue Ribbon hurler, set the Papermen down with only six hits. The win puts the Blue Ribbon team in the top spot in league standings, Tuesday evening Ralston-Purina and the Junior Chamber of Commerce teams meet.

ELLINGTON TRIBUTE

Tribute is paid to Duke Ellington, the popular keyboard maestro and composer, when Dr. Frank Black highlights the Duke's "Caravan" on his concert program Friday. The orchestra and chorus also offer "Temptation" and "For No Rhyme or Reason." Soprano Lucille Manners sings "L'Ete" and "The Man I Love," while Baritone Ross Graham's solo is "Parted."

BACK FOR MORE

Some people think entering a cage-full of tigers requires courage. That's easy, compared with Nan Wynn's job; she's going back into "The Chamber Music Society of Lower Basin Street's" arena Sunday. Armed with only a sheaf of sheet music, she'll face the snarls of that unsocial-lion, "Dr." Milton J. Cross, the orchestra led by Maestro Paul Lavalle, and Pianist-Comedian Victor Borge.

STUPID CUPID

Riley, in attempting to make his Uncle Buckley fall in love with a neighborhood spinster, gets himself into a series of laugh-provoking entanglements, in William Bendix's comedy-drama, "The Life of Riley." Sunday, Riley and his next-door neighbor, Waldo, conspire to a match between Buckley and Waldo's old maid aunt, but things get out of hand. Their attempts to smooth out the affair leads only to more confusion. Bendix plays Riley, with Charlie Cantor as Uncle Buckley.

When questioned as to why he has consistently turned down lucrative offers for night club appearances, Dunninger, the master thought detective now heard Wednesdays over the Blue network, gave an answer that should go down in history. "I don't think," he quipped, "there are enough minds in any of those places to provide material for a five-minute show."

Two motion picture producers are considering War Commentator Harry W. Flannery's idea of a series of shorts depicting the activities of overseas war correspondents. Flannery's plan is to have newsreel cameramen shoot them at work after which sound can be dubbed in and synchronized over here before release.

Just before he entrained this week for Kansas City with the Burns and Allen airshow cast, Maestro Felix Mills conferred with officers of the Armed Forces Radio Service regarding a new series of musical programs he may conduct for overseas fighting forces.

26-How to Finesse

IN the overwhelming majority of all deals, a declarer is confronted with one or more cases of possible finesses, and a large percentage of all contracts depend upon them. Do you know what a finesse is? There have been many unsatisfactory definitions, and plenty of players who know what a finesse is would have difficulty defining it at all. So let us just dispense with any definition and get to examples.

If you have the ace-queen of a suit in your hand or the dummy, and one of the opponents has the king, you use a finesse to seek two tricks with your combination. You lead a smaller card from the other hand toward your ace-queen and, if the first opponent plays a small one, you put on the queen. That will assure you two tricks in the suit if the king is held by the opponent who played first, whereas the king will kill your queen if the last player has it. In trying this for a trick with the queen, you have finessed.

When you hold the ace-king-jack of a suit, and the queen belongs to the opposition, you may get a trick with your jack by leading toward your combination and putting in the jack, hoping the first defender had the queen. It is the same if you have the ace-king-queen-ten and not the jack. Sometimes you will finesse against the jack by playing the ten.

Frequently you will be confronted with the question of whether to finesse or try to drop a missing honor by playing a higher card. The choice of method should depend on the number of cards held by the opponents in the suit. It is easy to illustrate why. Suppose you hold all the honors in a suit except the king. If your opponents have only that one card, and you have the other 12, between your hand and the dummy, it is obvious that the best play is the ace, for the king is certain to drop.

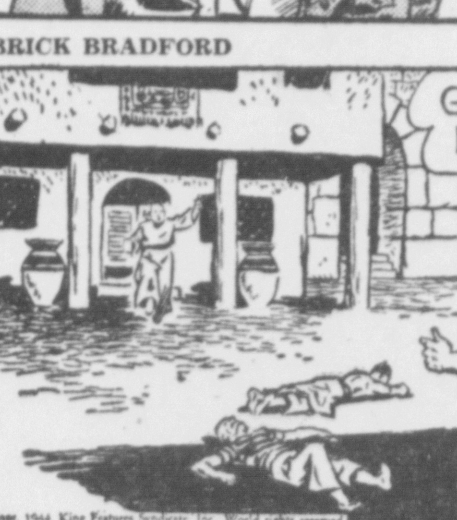

Now let's take the case of the opponents having the king and one other card. Suppose that other card is played by the first when you lead toward the ace-queen. Only the king now remains out. It can be, so far as you can tell, any one of the other cards whose backs you can see in the opponents' hands. If the first opponent has 10 cards left and his partner has 11, the odds are 11 to 10 that the second opponent has it, and it is therefore 11 to 10 in your favor that the preferred play of the ace will drop it, whereas it is 11 to 10 that the play of the queen will lose.

But if three cards are out against you, including the king, the finesse is better. The reason may be clearly shown. Suppose those cards are the king, 8 and 2. They may be divided in eight ways between the opponents. The first defender may have the K-8-2, the K-8, the K-2, the 8-2, the 8, the 2 or none. But after you have led from the other hand and the first defender played, say, the 2, that eliminates all combinations except those whereby he has the 2, leaving possible only the K-8-2, K-2, 8-2 and 2. If he has either of the first two, the Q finesse will win and the play of the A will lose. If he has the third, the A play will win. That makes the odds in favor of the finesse almost 2 to 1 as against play of the ace, since neither play will work against the fourth combination.

So, when the opponents have only two cards, usually play to drop a king, and when they have three or more, generally finesse against it. If you carry out the same study of a finesse against a queen, you find that playing to drop it pays best when they have four cards or fewer, and the finesse when they have more than four. Also that trying to drop a jack pays when they have six or fewer, and the finesse when they have seven or more. Just remember these three figures--2, 4 and 6--as the ones for dropping a king, queen and jack respectively, and that the finesse is usually sounder when the opponents have even one card more than those numbers.

Tomorrow: Deeper Finessing.

Directors Decide Against Holding Annual Pumpkin Show

JUNIOR FAIR TO BE STAGED OCTOBER 19-20

Displays To Be Enlarged, Amusement Features Put Under Ban

No Pumpkin Show in 1944. The Junior Fair will be staged October 19-20, however, and on a larger scale than before, but minus rides, concessions and other show features.

Directors of the Pickaway County Agricultural Society made the decision Monday evening and announced that the action is prompted by the war. They will underwrite the Junior Fair and have given the "go" sign for expansion of the event that has replaced the Pumpkin Show for the last two years and is steadily increasing in interest and public favor.

This year was to have seen the thirty-ninth annual Pumpkin Show, but it was called off as were the last two shows. Directors feel that while there may be some need for a close-to-home entertainment feature, but the effort and expense of staging it can be used to much better advantage in the direct war effort.

The following resolution was passed by the PCAS Monday night:

"Be it resolved that the Pickaway County Agricultural Society underwrite the Pickaway County Junior Fair for 1944.

"Be it further resolved that feeling the keen sense of responsibility toward the war effort and recognizing the necessity of directing all our effort toward a speedy and successful conclusion of the war, it is in the best interest of national and local welfare to discontinue the Pumpkin Show as staged for 36 years including the varied entertainment features and to seek to divert the attendant expenditure and energy toward efforts aimed at peace and early return of our youth now in service under the flag."

Buildings that last year were available for the Junior Fair are not available this year. PCAS representatives will ask the county for use of the county garage which is large enough to house a larger part of the exhibits.

All livestock divisions will be featured again in the Junior Fair and the promoters are considering setting up a grain division this year.

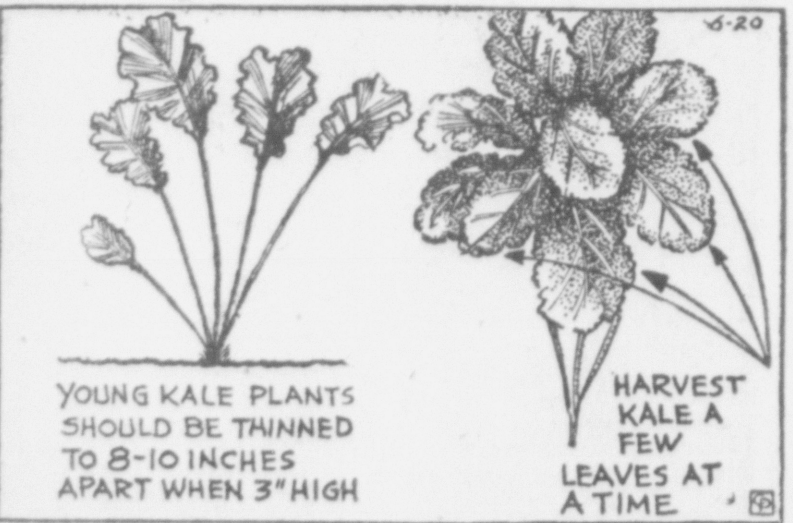

Plans for the Fair are expected to begin shaping immediately now that the county society has stamped approval on the undertaking and has guaranteed the promoters against financial loss.

Directors in attendance at the meeting Monday evening were Mayor Gordon, who presided, Leslie May, Robert Brehmer, George McDowell, Robert Colville, Clarence Helvering, Durward Dowden and Tom Wilson.

BAKER FUNERAL

Funeral services were conducted Tuesday at 2 p. m. in the South Perry Methodist church for George Dewey Baker of Laurelville route 2. The Rev. Mr. Palmer officiated. Burial in Mt. Olivet cemetery was in the charge of the Deffenbaugh funeral home.

Today's VICTORY GARDEN-GRAPH

A Vitamin Plus Plant for Victory Garden

By DEAN HALLIDAY
Released by Central Press Association

KALE IS a vitamin plus plant which should be a "must" in the Victory garden for health's sake if for no other reason. It boasts of other reasons, however, and among them are the fact that it is one of the hardiest of leafy green vegetables and one of the easiest to grow.

Kale belongs to the Brassica family which includes cabbage, so that insects which attack cabbage will attack kale, although the latter seems to be disease-free. Young kale plants, illustrated in the accompanying Garden-Graph, should be thinned to eight to 10 inches apart when they are about three inches high. When kale is purchased at the vegetable market you will find that the entire plant has been cut off near the ground. When kale is grown in the Victory garden a better way to harvest it is to strip off some of the lower leaves a few at a time, as illustrated. This method of harvesting kale permits the center leaves to continue growing for continuous use. Kale is prepared for the table in the same manner as cabbage, the leaves being washed and cooked as one would spinach or cabbage. If kale is to be used for the salad bowl select only young and tender leaves.

OTHER INVASIONS are "in the making," Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, Supreme Allied invasion commander, told President Roosevelt and the President passed the information on to the American public with some additions. Even as the Allies were succeeding so well in their post-invasion thrust from the beachheads into Normandy, France, General Eisenhower let it be known that "this is only part of a far larger pattern for assault against the German fortress by the great Russian armies and our own forces from the Mediterranean." For some time attention has been attracted to various portions of the Mediterranean coast. Recent Paris radio reports have told of large Allied ship movements off the south French coast, and this map points out some of the possible Mediterranean thrusts to which Gen. Eisenhower was referring. (International)

The DAILY WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND
By DREW PEARSON

The Government really pays the pension.
Senator Taft was persuaded to get into this by one of his big business constituents, J. F. Lincoln of Cleveland, head of the Lincoln Electric Co., who has been engaged in a hot argument with the Treasury over his own pension fund.
However, Taft has about come to the conclusion that pensions should be limited by law to around $10,000 annually, which is going to be very bad news to some of his friends who have been trying to tuck away far more than this each year.

Note—The man who does the biggest business in pension tax questions is Ellsworth Alvord, tax lobbyist for the U. S. Chamber of Commerce and close friend of Senator George of Georgia. Alvord is credited with having a big hand in writing the tax laws each year. He also has a lush list of clients who are in trouble with the Treasury over pensions.

MERRY-GO-ROUND
Folks in Wewoka, Oklahoma, and on Capitol Hill must be wondering what duties Dale Boren performs to merit his drawing $2,900 per year from the government. Boren is active as a bookseller in Wewoka, and folks there can't very well figure how he merits pay for a clerkship in the office of his brother, Representative Lyle Boren of Oklahoma. Dale Boren was put on the payroll March 13 of this year. Representative Boren is the man who pushed through the big job for the railroads by which they no longer carry troops and military equipment at half rates.

PICTURED in his car as he arrived at his home in Washington is Finnish Minister Hjalmar J. Procope. He had just been handed his passport by the State Department along with three of his aids and requested to leave the country for activities "injurious to the interests of the United States." It takes a Man This we must never forget . . . Men win victories.

Factories and refineries, no matter how amazing their products, do not win wars.

Our planes can be better than all other planes . . . their engines can be mightier . . . their fuel can deliver more power.

Victory takes more.
It takes the head and heart and spirit of a man. It takes human daring. It takes human skill.
The winning of war comes from men.

We of Sohio are proud to be making EX-TANES for the Air Forces. Proud to help give our fighting men the world's most powerful aviation fuel. And ours is the pride in what American boys are doing with it, hastening the end of this war and the better world to come. THE STANDARD OIL CO. (OHIO).
